GUSTAVE THIEL IS RECOVERING

Gustave A. Thiel, who was struck with an automobile, on the highway, near the Spring Valley pumping plant at San Carlos last Monday, is improving and will recover. He is at the Red Cross hospital in San Mateo He had three ribs broken. It was first thought that he would not recover as the shock would prove fatal owing to his advanced age. Thiel was driving along the highway and stopped to fix a tire. While he was working on the machine, another car came along and struck him. Sheriff Sheehan obtained the name of the driver of the car which struck Thiel. Dr. J. L. Ross is attending the injured man.

Mr. Thiel is the pioneer jeweler of Redwood City having lived here for forty years. He was the first one in Redwood City to purchase an automobile when they first made their appearance many years ago. He has always been an enthusiastic motorist.

ONE OF REDWOOD CITY'S NEW MANUFACTURING ESTABLISHMENTS

By WILLIS L. HALL

An outpost of importance in several ways is the plant of the Anglo-California Aniline Corporation, which began operations at Redwood City Monday morning.

It is the only dye factory in the United States west of Chicago.

It is capable of turning out product of the value of $100,000 a week with present equipment; without increasing floor space the capacity can be quadrupled by additional machinery.

It can place dyes on the market in competition with the world at prices as low as those prevailing before the war.

It will be a self-contained institution inside of six months, developing its own power and the greater part of its raw materials.

It has processes and machinery for turning out dyes more advanced, scientifically than any other plant in the world.

It can be transformed inside of 24 hours into a plant for making gases used in warfare or high explosives, such as T. N. T.

These are some of the things about the dye factory that now occupies the buildings formerly used by the Christofferson aeroplane factory and school. Several months ago the plant was purchased and plans made for starting the factory. Solid concrete foundations were put in for the heavy machinery that was designed by L. H. Eilken, chief chemist, and built specially for the plant. Large redwood vats were built and most of them are in place ready to receive the chemical solutions carrying the dyes. The dryers are in place and are now ready to turn out the dyes in concentrated form to be sent to all parts of the world.

S. F. Harris is president and general manager of the plant, with Henry East as secretary-treasurer. About 25 workmen will be employed regularly.

Managed by Able Man.

People of this section may have some recollection of the development of the Moorehead laboratories in San Francisco and the great work done there for the government during the war. S. F. Harris, president and general manager of the Anglo-California Aniline corporation, is the man whose strenuous efforts put the Moorhead laboratories to the front. He is a mining engineer by profession, but has given up almost all his mining and oil interests to devote his entire time to the dye factory. Henry East, secretary-treasurer, has been one of the prominent and active business men of Oakland for the past 20 years. He was also active in promoting the Moorehead laboratories. They, with Mr. Eilkein are in charge of the actual operation of the plant, while Thomas A. Keogh looks after the legal aspects of the corporation. All of these men have the utmost faith in the new veture.

Redwood City Best Location.

Experimentation has been carried on in laboratories in San Francisco for the past four years. Great success has attended them. When the time came to consider a location Redwood City was selected as advantageous from several considerations. It is already quite an industrial center, with ample rail and water transportation. Climatic conditions are extremely favorable ,while industrial sites are not so expensive as in some other places. W. P. Gray of the Gray-Thorning Lumber company was of great assistance in completing the details of purchase of the Christofferson plant. In fact,, ready assistance was given by all concerned.

Rapid Assembling of Plant Outfit

For a plant of the importance of this dye factory the time of assembling and placing the equipment has been comparatively short. Only about three months has been required for the work, despite difficulties that were discouraging. Its completion is the result of four years' of careful planning. During this period market reports, the development in the field of chemical machinery, and especially in raw materials and intermediate products, research work was carried on, until the time when the establishment of a chemical plant on the Pacific coast capable of producing organic products on a large scale was absolutely justified. With the close of the war conditions were trying, as cost of materials and labor were very high. It was therefore necessary to create a factory which could be managed economically by employing the minimum of labor. In turn this demanded the planning of complex and perfect machinery and apparatus. Care had to be taken to keep every individual part of the plant independent of the other departments, so that at no time a complete shutdown could occur. The result is that in case markets are unfavorable to one class of products the work can be shifted to another without unnecessary loss of time.

Intricate Apparatus Installed

Apparatus has been installed to carry out almost every important reaction indispensible with organic work. The factory is equipped for nitrating, reducing, fusing, sulphonating ,digesting, distilling, chlorinating processes, at atmospheric pressures or under vatuum or at atmospheric pressure on a large scale. Charging and discharging of apparatus are accomplished by a system of pumping (including acid-resistance apparatus) machinery, and compressed air. The conveying of materials and cleaning of apparatus is effected mostly in the same way. Wherever possible, agitation is done mechanically by a number of motors and also by the use of steam power. Heating is done with steam, oil and gas. The factory produces its own steam, its own gas for lighting and heating purposes, and has its own refrigerating plant which furnishes a ton of opaque ice every day. A water tank of large capacity has been installed in which water is purified and chemically treated. A well is to be sunk to furnish an independent water supply. Electricity will be generated within the plant in the near future; likewise other preparations made to establish the entire independence of the plant from outside agencies. The object is both efficiency and economy, as well as making it self-containing

Splendid Equipment

The plant occupies six acres of ground, of which nearly half is under roof. To the west of the office building is the one designated as 1-A, known as the department of intermediates. In the center of the large room may be seen a number of big vats. These are of redwood, some of them lead-lined in order to secure freedom from chemical reaction on contact with metallic substances. Near the southern end of the room is an immense culphonator, dryer, filter and other machinery. On the opposite side of the room are other automatic machines for carrying on the processes.

In the building 2-A there are also the tanks, machinery for drying, grinding, etc. The two sphercidal mills are especially interesting. They are heavy hollow castings, the material to be ground being placed inside with a large number of steel balls, then the speroids set to revolving.

Back in the center of the plot is a storehouse where already raw material to the value of many thousands of dollars has been assembled. The management did not wait for the completion of the plant before getting materials. These were on hand for use the moment the wheels were ready to turn. At present the raw materials are brought here from various localities. In the near futuer the sources of supply will be right here in California and most of them from the imemdiate vicinity.

New and Old Colors Promised

It is understood the company will appear on the market in the near future with a number of colors and intermediate products of a pre-war standard. These products have been missing on the markets for the past four years. It will be remembered when the Deutschland, the German merchant submarine, appeared in this country it brought this class of materials as the main part of its cargo. Some of the colors to be produced have never before been made anywhere. In one of the buildings machinery has been installed for a new synthesis of camphor; another has a complex apparatus which is said to be the first of its kind in this country. The largest builders of machinery in the east were unable to make a special casting able to withstand the actions of the chemicals employed or produced in this apparatus. In order to obtain the results required in this apparatus the management had to secure fused quartz and compelte the equipment by ordering the various parts required from different sources in all directions. This apparatus enables the management to obtain a number of gaseous substances in compressed form, which will be used in making absolutely fast dyestuffs as well as synthetic drugs.

Fine Research Laboratory

A feature which will be of inestimable value is the research laboratory. Part of this will be a copy in minature of the whole plant and this laboratory will contain a complete equipment on a small scale necessary to carry out ail chemical reactions and analysis. The laboratory will solve problems for other firms on a royalty basis, will be open for students and will be operated along the lines of laboratories in Europe. Its success is assured from the vast amount of waste materials in the west and the orient. These will be investigated with the view of turning them into useful products. Discoveries of more or less importance, commercially and scientifically, are bound to be made, so the laboratory of research will be one of the most important elements in the factory.

Mr. Harris and his associates are not going it blind by any means. They have prepared formulas for products whose value has been tested and demonstrated by eastern manufacturers. For these the demand is immediate and constant. With the large western field entirely open to exploitation as well as that of the Pacific, the possibilities for expansion are immense. They are thoroughly convinced that they have the most perfectly equipped factory of the kind in the world. Now they are going to demonstrate it to others. Associated industries follow dye factories, so this may be only the beginning of an influx of other enterprises.

Importance of Dye Industry

Even six years ago the significance of the opening of a dye factory in the United States would have attracted hardly any attention. It is one of the lessons of the war that has just closed that the dye industry was probably the most powerful weapon in the hands of the Germans both at home and abroad. These facts were brought out by the investigations of the custodian of alien enemy property in the United States; in textile trades it was recognized that the Germans were in absolute control of the dyes needed for that work; in all lines of manufacturing, painting, printing—anywhere that colors were used—it was a notorious fact that the colors came from Germany, even though some lusty attempts were made by Aemrican chemists to enter the field. For primary protection there were several thousand patents issued to German chemists in the dye industry. These patents to a large extent barred entry by others into the manufacturing fields. Processes and products both were protected. In a few instances the patents were ineffective. Then it was German financing came into play. German money was used lavishly at all times.

German Monopoly Before the War.

How all this came about is quite a story. Chemists and manufacturers in Germany try to be so thorough as the big meat packers in America. It is a saying around stockyards that the packing house uses everything from a pig but the squeal. In making dyes the chemists used a great deal of coal tar, but only a small portion of the raw material was converted into salable wares. Even the industry was profitable. But no manufacturer likes to see huge dumps of refuse. It appears too much like waste. So the chemists set to work to derive something valuable from the residue materials. They made startling discoveries, one being that all this waste material could be made into powerful explosives. That revelation caused the careful guarding of all the chemical dumps in the German empire. At one of their numerous plants in America it was discovered quite by accident that a powerful poisonous gas could be generated from these same chemicals. The secret was conveyed to Germany and the first knowledge of it came with the administering of mustard gas doses to troops in the war sections. These two instances alone show what a power the dye industry and its allied discoveries meant to Germany. No wonder it was fostered and coddled by the governments.

Not content with building up a tremendous industry at home, the Germans undertook to control the dye industry of the world. At the beginning of the war that plan had almost been realized. German dyes had the preference everywhere. Appalling is the story of corruption and espionage carried on to maintain supremacy. Master dyers in every textile establishment were on the pay rolls of the Hun dye companies. In case a menufacturer desired to make any change he would soon learn that the substitute dyes were not satisfactory ,that only the German product was worthy of use. It was a trade joke that opening a keg meant that the master dyer would get a fairly good tip fastened on the inside of the sample keg of dye for testing. In this way, by controlling the users, the Germans dominated the textile industry product amonuting to several billions of dollars annually. Nor did their work stop there. In every one of these manufacturing establishments were German spies who reported to Berlin every important detail of the concern where they were employed. Nothing was kept back, apparently, that could be of use in the spy system. Men naturalized as American citizens were afterward found to be regular agents of the German secret service, reporting regularly to their chiefs.

Dye Industry a Great Asset

Undertaking the dye business from this angle the American people can now realize to a much greater extent the significance of starting laboratories and factories along this line in America. Surplus products will be dumped into America at ruinous low prices in order to prevent the factories doing a profitable business. How to prevent this importation will be one of the difficult problems of legislation. It goes without saying that the old method of bribery will be resorted to in many instances to have American made dyes declared inferior to German goods and unfit for use. Whether that can be made to stick, in the light of the government revelations, is a matter to be developed.

A Companion for Americanism

On the other hand, an active campaign is to be undertaken to convince the Aemrican people that it will be patriotism of the highest order to demand that goods into which dyes enter shall be colored with dyes made in America by Americans. Merchants will be asked to give just as emphatic guarantees of such goods as they have given in previous years to the German product. All working together will be able to keep out the German product. It would be sufficient cause not to patronize their goods on account of the war, but the greater significance of the inimical use to which that industry has been put to injure other nations furnishes greater inspiration. Refusal to buy goods colored with German dyes means that a new American industry is being assisted, one that not only furnishes legitimate employment to American citizens, but fosters the upbuilding of establishments that will be potential as supply depots for war ammunition of various sorts should the necessity arise. Furthermore, it will mean the building up of establishments where practical research work will be done by industrial experts, resulting in discoveries of great economic value to the world.

People of Redwood City are quite proud of the new industry. It is a notable addition to the group of manufacturing establishments that is increasing in size every year.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Mrs. Harrison, wife of George W. Harrison, a searcher in the offices of the California Pacific Title and Insurance company, arrived here from North California during the week and is occupying her home on Hamilton street. Mr. Harrison was a first lieutenant in the army during the war and while training in the southen camp met the woman who afterwards became his wife. This is Mrs. Harrison's first visit to Redwood City and is delighted with this community. Mr. Harrison was formerly a newspaper man having worked on some of the large dailies in San Francisco.

W. O. Smith, a member of the W. O. Smith Hardware company of San Francisco, has purchased a piece of property at Oak Knoll Manor and will shortly erect a nice bungalow on the property. Mr. Smith and his family are living ni temporary apartments on the place. Mr. Smith is prominent in business circles of the city.

Harry R. Fee, the real estate broker, announces that he is having a big demand for Five Points property. During the week he sold several parcels to city buyers.

THE SUPERVISORS HOLD MEETING

The board of supervisors met in regular session Monday, July 7, at 10 a. m., there being present Chairman John MacBain presiding, T. L. Hickey, W. H. Brown, Jos. M. Francis and Dr. C. V. Thompson.

In compliance with arequest from the Santa Clara supervisors and on motion of Brown, seconded by Francis, the board ordered that all the bids that had been submitted for the construction of the bridge on Governor avenue, across the San Francisquito creek, be returned to the bidders unopened. The request of the Santa Clara county board was made it was explained, on account of the failure to secure the necessary right of way for the road leading up to the site of the proposed bridge on the Santa Clara side.

This being the time set for the opening of the bids for the construction of the branch county jail at Halfmoon Bay and no bids having been received, it was ordered that the matter be continued for one week.

The following bids were opened for the construction of a concrete bridge over New Year's creek, below Pigeon Point in the Fifth township:

J. H. Miller, San Jose....$13,500.00
A. Mattson, San Bruno 11,427.50

Before awarding the contract for the work, the board, decided, on motion of Hickey, seconded by Thompson, to visit the site of the proposed bridge on Thursday next in a body for an inspection ,it being understood that the contract would most likely be let at the meeting next Monday.

Chairman MacBain addressed the board relative to the inspection of the Hooper road leading from the end of Jefferson avenue, Redwood City to the Canyada road in the Third township, this matter having come up before the supervisors several months ago. The members decided to make of the visit over the road following the afternoon session.

A commnuication was received from County Surveyor George A. Kneese, notifying the board of the completion of the contract of Charles Cofiori and Guseppe Tocchelli for the construction of a concrete culvert on Whipple avenue in the Second township and recommending the acceptance of the work.

A communication was also received from the county surveyor, notifying the board of the completion of the contract of M. Klaussen for the construction of the retaining wall on the bridge over the Pomponia creek in the Fifth township and recomemnding the acceptance of the work.

The communications were received on motion of Thompson, seconded by Hickey and the recommendations of the county surveyor were ordered accepted.

In compliance with a request from the board, J. R. Eubanks, superintendent of the county farm and hospital, submitted a report showing the costs of amintaining the dairy at the farm during the past year and also the revenue from the same. The report showed that this department of the institution had furnished $1,719.04 in produce at a total cost of $1418.65, a saving to the county of $300.39.

The stock on hand, according to the report at the present time is 29 head, nine of which had been added during the past year, without any extra expense to the county.

The report of Eubanks was accepted on motion of Hickey, seconded by Brown.

E. H. Woodworth, county horticultural commissioner, submitted his report for the month of June, 1919, showing that he had inspected 3269 trees, plants and shrubs, also 42 carloads of potatoes, all of which had been passed. The report told of the work being done at the present time to combat the pea aphis, which is doing considerable damage on the coastside of the county. The county Woodworth stated in the report, is "commercially" free from squirrels, but he asked that he be allowed one extra man to take care of eradication of the pest. He called attention to the gopher problem in the county at the present time, which he said has become very serious and which is now being combated by the State Health Board.

The report of the horticultural commissioner was accepted, on motion of Francis, seconded by Brown, and ordered filed.

On motion of Francis, seconded by MacBain, the request of Woodworth for one additional man to assist in the squirrel eradication work, was granted.

A communication was received from A. C. G. Hahn, secretary of the Menlo Park fire commissioners, notifying the board that the amount of money needed for the maintenance of the fire district during the coming fiscal year would be $13,000, and asking that the necessary tax levy, which would be 36 cents on the one hundred dollars, be levied in September, to raise the above amount.

In connection with the above, Chairman MacBain stated that it had been explained to him that the greater part o fthe amount of money asked for was to be used in paying back the individuals who had advanced the money last year for the construction of the new fire house in Menlo Park, and he questioned the right of the board of supervisors to levy a tax for such purposes. Following a discussion of considerable length on the part of the members of the board and District Attorney Swart, it was decided to refer the matter to the latter for a legal opinion.

District Attorney Swart presented at this time an ordinance regulating and governing the use of stationary gas engnies in the residential sections of the county during the night time. He had prepared the ordinance, he explained, following continuous complaints from residents in the Selby avenue district, south of Redwood City that there peace and quiet was being disturbed by the noise made by unmuffled gas engines operated by Japanese vegetable growers in pumping water for their tomato crops in the Selby estate. The disturbance had become so great of late, that a number of the residents were threatening to dispose of their property and move away from the district, in fact, Swart stated, one person had already done this. The ordinance, which was adopted, on motion of Hickey, seconded by Francis, provides that no person ,firm or corporation shall operate a stationary gas engine within the residential section of the county between the hours of 8 p. m. and 7 a. m., without first obtaining a permit from the board of supervisors, the said residential section being fixed as including al lthat section for a mile on either side of El Camino Real.

Before presenting the ordinance, District Attorney Swart addressed the board in the matter of Japanese farming in the county, which he stated has become a serious problem, especially with regard to the use of the water supply. He called attention to the great quantities of water that are now ebing used by the Japs in raising tomatoes on the Selby estate. One farm alone, he said, consumed over 1,000,000, gallons daily. He stated that whole portions of Santa Clara county had been purchased by Japanese farmers and he predicted that unless something was done in the matter here within a year's time San Mateo county would be ruined by the Orientals.

A communication was received from the city engineer of East San Diego, asking for information relative to the merits of a certain make of tractor, which the writer stated he understood wos now being used by the county of San Mateo.

Chairman MacBain reported that he had such a tractor in his district, one that he had bought about four years ago and which had not proved entirely satisfactory. The clerk was directed to write the East San Diego official accordingly.

The State Board of Charities ad dressed a communication to the board, in which they enclosed a copy of a letter sent to Judge Buck concerning the handling of juvenile court wards in San Mateo county. The letter stated that from an inspection of conditions in the county, the board did not consider hat the building of a detention home at this time necessary and suggested the sending of the really delinquent children to the San Francisco county detention home. The merely needy children of the county, it was recommended, could be committed to the social service commission for placement into selected and supervised boarding or foster homes.

The board, on motion of Hickey, seconded by Thompson, unanimously adopted a resolution asking the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company to restore the telephone service in the county and to grant a fair and equitable salary to its employees.

The board officially canvassed the returns of the special election held on July 1, to bond the State in the sum of $40,000,000 for the building of new roads and highways.

County Engineer George A. Kneese presented plans an dspecifications for the reconstruction of the old road from San Gregorio to Tunitas, the work to include regrading of the road and an oil macadam pavement and the construction of several new culverts. Supervisor Thompson moved that the plans and specifications be adopted and the clerk advertise for bids. There was no second to the motion and a discussion arose as to whether it would be better to reconstruct the old road or the new one built several years ago. It was finally decided to lay the matter over until County Surveyor Kneese could submit an estimate on the cost of repairing the new road.

County Surveyor Kneese addressed the board relative to securing room for a private office. He said that Miss Bailey, the county librarian, who was now using the room formerly occupied by the surveyor as a private office, was agreeable and anxious to move the library to the basement of the court house.

The only available place in the basement, Chairman MacBain explained, was the large room set aside as a store room for the sheriff, and the court house committee was instructed to ascertain the cost of fitting this out for the use of the librarian.

The board reconvened as a board of equalization and as such, accepted the assessment rolls and made the usual order as to lowering and raising the assessments.

A commupication from the San Mateo Grade Teachers' Association, thanking the board for its action on June 30th in adopting a resolution providing for the increasing of the school apportionment tax to allow for a raise in the salaries of the teachers of the county, was received and ordered filed, on motion of Francis, seconded by Brown.

A communication from H. E. H. Ruggles ,supervising principal of the Burlingame grammar school, in connection with the above, was received and ordered filed.

County Assessor D. P. Flynn presented the new assessment rolls, showing the county valuation to be as follows:

Daly City	$ 815,540.00

City of San Bruno	820,885.00

LA HONDA NOTES

The many resorts of this place were full to overflowing during the three holidays.

Mrs. Cyrus Tichenor and family have a very pretty camp just above Hotel La Honda, opposite Mrs. Eugene Daugherty, her relative, who, with her two charming daughters, have occupied the same camp site for many years.

County Assessor Flynn and family have taken a cottage for the summer and entertain their friends lavishly.

Mrs. Petry and daughter, Mrs. Ethel Mitchell, have pitched their tent at the same pretty spot they occupied last season. Mrs. Mitchell with her matchless voice gives much pleasure to her many friends.

Mrs. Sears has erected a number of little cottages, which are in great demand.

Glen Camp is again occupied by the genial Mr. and Mrs. Fred Glennan of Redwood City.

Mrs. A. B. Moyer has opened her cottage for the summer and expects to entertain many visitors during the season.

The family of T. C. Rice, county recorder, spent a very pleasant vacation, the guests of Hotel La Honda Mrs. Sallie Nelson, the popular teacher of Redwood City and Miss Ruth Thompson were members of the party.

Frank Wentworth has taken the camp site that the Weisshaars have had for several seasons past, but have recently purchased a building lot from W. R. Bartly and are busily improving it. Miss Frances Weisshaar and Miss Doris McMillan are "keeping the home fires buring" at present.

Howard Smith and Jerry Loony gave a house warming and open air entertainment on the afternoon of the Fourth, to celebrate the opening of their new bungalow they have recently erected here. Music, dancing and refreshments were provided for all and a pleasant time was enjoyed by their many friends.

Lieutenant Jas. Taylor of Camp Fremont is building an attractive bungalow at this place, which will be the scene of many merry gatherings, he being a very gallant and courteous son of Mars.

The largest concourse of people that has gathered here attended the Fourth of July ball given in Sears' hall by Howard Smith & Co. Everything was safe, sane and sober, but joy was unconfined. The collation served at Hotel La Honda at midnight, reflected credit upon the well known hospitality of that popular hotel.

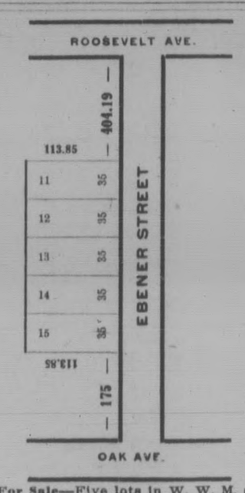
The Delameters secured their camp site early in the season and are now comfortably settled in the same.

Dr. Asa Collins and family are domiciled at "Miriasa" their summer home ,for the season.

Mrs. Chas. Smith of Palo Alto came early to camp and will remain late, always the first to come and the last to go, so you see she likes it here.

The Dellars have a lovely camp which looks very picturesque when lighted up at night by innumerable China lanterns.

W. R. Bartley is interesting many prospective buyers in the very beautiful lots he has for sale along the creek and nestling among the groves of redwood trees, he expects to do a land-office business this summer.



For Sale—Five lots in W. W. M. subdivision, Redwood City. Will be sold cheap on terms. Apply to Ed. Temperil, 31 Blake street, El Cerrito, Contra Costa county, P. O. address, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 171. Berkeley, Cal. 32tf

The fall of the Bastile will be celebrated at Bonzagni's Lodge, La Honda, this evening, July 12, by a big dance. The real estate office of E. M Long of San Francisco and Menlo Park report the sale of the northeast corner of the State Highway and Spruce avenue, midway between Menlo and Atherton, 106 by 125 feet in size, to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Lee, of San Francisco, who will improve the property right away and reside there. The Lees are splendid people and will make a desirable addition to Menlo Park.

H. R. Fee, the real estate broker, has sold a ten-acre tract across the road from the Bolles home on Santa Cruz avenue to Doctor Painton, the well-known physician and surgeon of San Francisco. It is said the sum of $10,000 was paid for the property. The realty was owned by Mr. Maynard of San Francisco.

Over 100 pastors of the Catholic Diocese of San Francisco arrived at St. Patrick's Seminary Monday evening for the annual retreat. They will leave this morning for their various parishes with new vigor to conduct the work of the Master. The assistant pastors will hold their retreat next week. Rev. Father Fitzgerald, a noted scholar of the Catholic University at Washington, conducted the retreat. He is considered one of the ablest priests in the country.

Petition for letters testamentary was filed Tuesday in the superior court of San Francisco, by Mrs. Mary L. Ryan, widow of the late Emmons Blackburn Ryan, who died June 16 of this year. Mrs. Ryan presented a will dated April 6, 1908, in Ryan's handwriting, in which she is bequeathed the entire estate. Mrs. Ryan's petition states there are two adult children living, Shirley B. Ryan and Daisy A. Moore. The petition did not state the value of the estate but it is believed it will be near the $100,000 mark. The Ryan home here will most likely be offered for sale at once. It is a very attractive place and ought to be readily sold.

Lieutenant Arthur Payne, young son of Mrs. T. F. Payne, returned from the front in France during the week, having been discharged in France a short time ago. Though an American soldier he was under French command and just before the war ended he was about to be promoted to a captaincy. He was nearly two years in France and for a portion of that time was in the front lines. He worked very hard during the conflict and is glad to get back.

The department at Washington recently made the local postoffice a second class office on account of the big volume of business done during the past year. It is to be hoped the people will keep the office in this class and not let it slip back. Many purchase their stamps and envelopes at Palo Alto when they should patronize the local office. All postoffices are rated by the business they do. At Washington the standard of a town is known by the business done at the postoffice.

Now that a big fleet of warships is to be maintained on the Pacific the question of another naval academy is being urged by the people of the coast. Before the war this matter was talked of and Senator Phelan was urged to use his influence towards having Ravenswood named as the site. Naval officers at that time went over the proposed site and said it was ideal. Let the people of the peninsula get busy and secure this big institution for this end of the county. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Mrs. W. D. O'Brien and family departed from here during the week, going to New Orleans for a short stay after which they will join Mr. O'Brien in Bolivia, South America and will permanently reside there. Mr. O'Brien is a mining engineer and is employed by a large mining syndicate Mrs. O'Brien has made many friends while residing here and they wish her and her family every succes and happiness in the southern republic.

BANK OF ITALY INCREASES CAPITAL STOCK TO $10,000,000

A meeting fruitful of results to the financial and agricultural interests throughout the state was held on Tuesday by the Board of Directors of the Bank of Italy. At this meeting the Board determined to offer for sale on January 2, 1920, an additional 10,000 shares of the bank's recently authorized increase in capital stock; the remaining 30,000 shares to be issued on the second of the following July. The first issue will be offered at a price of $160 per share, and the second at $165 per share. This will make the fully paid-up capital stock of the bank $10,000,000, and the surplus and undivided profits $6,000,000. By voting this issue at the present time the Bank of Italy will be in a position to take full advantage of the recent amendments to the California State Banking Law, which place state banks on the same footing as national banks with regard to foreign branches, the purchase of acceptance and the handling of securities. The bank has already established a Bond Department ni anticipation of the new situation, which will permit state banks to purchase and advertise for sale such securities as are permissable for investment by commercial banks. With this in view the bank has recently purchased $1,600,000 Sonoma County bonds.

With its increase capitalization the bank will also be in a position to play a leading part in the development of California's foreign trade, in accordance with the new law, which will permit California state banks to establish branches in foreign countries and to invest in the stock of banks not incorporated in this state for the purpose of international and foreign banking.

As a result of its great increase in capital the bank has developed plans for financing on a large scale the agricultural and horticultural intrests of the state. This will be done by virtue of the new ruling of the Federal Reserve Board through the handling of the output of rice, cotton, raisin, prune, walnut and other co-operative growers' associations on an acceptance basis. The splendid initiative displayed by the Bank of Italy in seizing on the situation this year in the its financing of the dried fruit growers has opened up a new era of development to the California farmer.

Adopts Pension System for Employes

During the past six months the increase in the bank's resources has totalled over fourteen millions. Realizing that this phenoñemal gain is due in large measure to the loyalty and enthusiasm of its hundreds of employes; the bank is developing ways and means of dividing its profits with its entire organization. At the meeting on Tuesday, the directors adopted a pension system, so as to insure independence to its retired employes who have given their best years to the growth and success of the organization. The employes of institutions purchased throughout the tsate by the Bank of Italy will share in the benefits of the system on the same basis as those employes who have been with the parent institution. The directors have also under consideration an employes' profit sharing plan, which they expect to adopt at an early date.

FEW NON-UNION PHONE OPERATORS AT WORK

Four women operators and four menmade an attempt to conduct the business of the local telephone office yesterday but made but little headway, the businessmen failing to accept the offer made by the operators. The striking operators kept vigilance and strongly urged the businessmen to stand steadfast in opposition to the company. They made a strong plea to the new operators to retire. They left much discouraged and it is doubtful if they will return today. The striking women have the sympathy of everyone in their fight.

PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY — COURTEOUS CONTINUOUS SERVICE

The Summer Servant Question Solved

ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES perform many sided service in the household. Whether you have a servant or not, housework will be greatly simplified if you will begin to make use of the electricity available at every switch. The shortage and high cost of domestic labor, particularly during the summer months when the orchards and canneries offer more flattering inducements for female occupation, make it necessary for the housewife to give more of her attention to the routine household duties.

ELECTRIC VACUUM CLEANERS, WASHING MACHINES, IRONS are only three of the electrical servants you can put into service by merely pressing a button. Each one is necessary for the proper and efficient running of any household. They perform the routine duties of the home in less than one-third the time, without any of the inconvenience, back-breaking labor or drudgery of the old-style methods of keeping house. Every housewife should have these three appliances. Your electrical contractor-dealer will tell you how easily they may be purchased and how you will be more than repaid for your expenditure in a very short period by the saving in help and laundry money and in physical labor. Your electrical dealer will gladly demonstrate, ask him.
